Five window dressing trends

Today's home is all about creating a tranquil and liveable space, with a focus on simplicity, serenity and the family. It's often the small touches that can give your space a renewed look.

When refreshing the décor in your house, a complete design overhaul isn't always necessary. Choose to update your window dressings and soft furnishings instead. It's quick, easy and affordable and can completely transform your chosen room. Here are five key window dressing trends that will grab your attention and inspire your decorating ideas.

1 Layer those tones

Clean, calm, minimalist tones to create a visual detox are what some well-being trendsetters are seeking. Pastels, soft neutral shades and skin tones, all mixed with pure grey hues are the go-to-shades for this serene look. To dress your windows with a warm feel, bundle them up in insulating layers with curtains and blinds hung together. Stick with earthy, natural shades with varying degrees of colour depth and add an accent of pastel to stop falling into a world of 'beige'.

2 Jazz it up with Geos

For an eye-catching room feature, patterns on the walls or at the window are absolutely key. Modern twists on 70s style is emerging in all aspects of design, art and fashion, and there's no reason why this shouldn't feature in your home décor too. Mixing many patterns and textures together with high and low contrasts can create the beautiful and unexpected, so don't be afraid of your imagination.

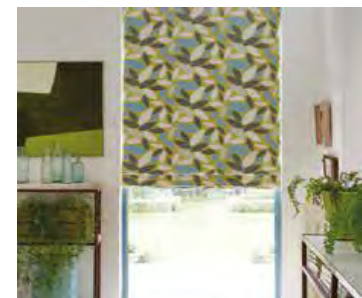

Layered window dressings don't have to look heavy.

Emphasise the tone of a room dominated by a grand window with dramatic colours and bold designs.

For a sharp finish choose cool greys and blues.

Create drama with bold and repetitive printed shapes.

3 Leafy Lanes

A perennial favourite is all manner of leafy designs but now nature's direction is mixed with urban landscapes. Focussing on the calm inducing colour of green this adaptable trend shares space with natural shades of stone and earth—colours to ground you.

4 Take a world view

Travel not only broadens the mind, it's also a great way to bring back ideas and objects that suggest a life well-travelled and gives your home a unique, personal and multi-layered feel. We're much more at ease with rejecting the mass-produced world in favour of a collected look that continues to change as new treasures are added.

Bring the outdoors in.

Hints of tropical green hues create a natural look and feel, perfect for any room.

Scandinavia provides perfect inspiration from natural beauty and simple design and is bang on trend right now.

For modern contemporary shutters draw inspiration from the States.

5 Let there be light

Don't let grey clouds darken your view!

Depending on size and where they are situated in the house, not all of your windows will let in the same light but some of this can be compensated for by a good choice of window dressing.

Steer clear of heavy curtains if you need to maximize light into the room and opt instead for lightweight voile blinds to maintain privacy.

tips 'n' tricks

Vertical blinds are perfect for controlling light or can be fully drawn back for an uninterrupted view.

Choose curtains and let the light flood into your room. In the winter months they may help save a few pennies too. Add a blind for extra privacy or light control if needed.

Kitchen

Choosing your kitchen window dressing is just as important as any other room and shouldn't be overlooked in the heart-of-the-home.

The most practical kitchen blind solution is a wipeable roller blind with plenty of fabrics to choose from to co-ordinate with your accessories. In the day, the blind is up out of the way, to leave your sill clear.

style idea

Sheer roller blinds are a modern alternative to net curtains, offering privacy in the day, whilst still filtering light through.

Kid's Bedroom

Kid's bedrooms should be cosy and comforting. What you choose for the window can provide the perfect solution, ensuring inherently child safe products are available. But don't forget to get creative; after all it's a kid's room. Add personality with bright colours and patterns.

Style idea

A roller blind in a bockout frame not only looks good but will minimize light coming through the edges of the blind.
